

Food Safety Training Class

The Chatham Health District is offering a food safety training class for food service establishment employees. This 90 minute food safety training is geared towards employees who are not QFO certified and may need additional basic safe food handling instruction. This class is being offered at the health district or can be brought into your establishment and given by our staff. Please call the health district at 365-0884 for more information.